

Political Stories we need to tell Author Steven Denning discusses the importance of narrative in politics and the tales that Democrats should speak of. (Article is from 2006, but the ideas are still relevant.)

What have you found that resonates? If you've come across a good article that helps show how to get our views across to people in ways that work, send it along for this space. We're all looking for some inspiration and tips!

<http://www.chippewademocrats.com/ht/d/sp/i/839246/pid/839246/displaytype/raw>